

Toronto: The Road to 2012

2009: Swine Flu | 2010: G20 Martial Law | 2011: Recession Riots | 2012: What Next?

"Hope cannot be sustained unless it can be seen." – Chris Hedges

Millions of people worldwide share leaked info about the plans of wealthy families who own central banks that print money from nothing. They put governments in debt and under their control. Their tax-exempt foundations, corporations, think tanks and secret societies control most activism, media, arts, education, and religion to control us. They write books. They have websites and agendas. Millions know. More should.

People in power aren't stupid. They fight, but, make more money working together, so they want a dictatorial UN world government by 2012 to manage countries like tax farms. Fake green billionaires tell us to use less so they can steal the rest. Their security forces trained in "terror" are aimed at everyone. They moved manufacturing overseas to destroy our future. Their politicians and media lied. So, what happened?

Big Banksters replaced "God" with "science" and created eugenics to control, weaken and kill us off. Most people know corporations poison us, education is under-funded, healthcare is dangerous and so on. Rich charities keep the big scams going with fake opposition. That's why problems get worse even after billions are spent on them. Can we use what inspires us for more than just entertainment to help all of us handle this?

Their psychologists plan changes over time using sex, violence, selfishness, racism, divide and conquer, order out of chaos, problem + reaction = solution, fear and more. Predictive programming puts ideas in books, music, movies, TV, etc. Social networks turn us into anti-social robots. We get too much trivia too fast to think about it. We can all see pieces of the puzzle. Can we reverse-engineer solutions to our problems?

We're supposed to learn to "love our servitude" (Huxley), so popular New Age ideas like "Spread the love!" and "Keep it positive!" are used to teach us to reject or censor any facts we don't like. Retro-youth culture turns adults into fragile children who seek approval and make-up their reality. Politeness sees us accept it. Blind optimism gets destroyed. Can we stay positive – and informed – and love our ability to handle truth?

Experts on these issues say the most important thing is to inform everyone where we live to push for better policies to protect our health and wealth from globalization. We're supposed to mindlessly protest or riot to help train our police to run population control exercises. But that's stupid. Isn't finding our own voice for freedom and calmly and consistently sharing good info to stop the predicted recession-riots a better idea?

We have proven options and doing nothing isn't practical when we're losing our rights and told to expect hard times, with no guarantees. Some can handle it, some can't, but if the GTA can find just 1% who can, or 55,000 people, out of 5.5. million, that's a start. Canadian men age 25 - 45 should try to handle heavy stuff on behalf of women, children and the elderly. Is feeling helpless sexy? Fighting back? Should we decide?

Of course, we have many things to love. But are they worth protecting? Can we fight for our future? Have fun and get stuff done? Expose the fraud of multi-generational debt? Share a million dollars worth of truth against billions in propaganda? Count on Canadians to share good info with other Canadians who will look at it? That may be all it takes to put us in the position to win. Once that's normal, we'll figure out the rest.

NaturalNews.com . WhatYouWantToBelieveIn.com . PressForTruth.ca

Toronto: The Road to 2012

2009: Swine Flu | 2010: G20 Martial Law | 2011: Recession Riots | 2012: What Next?

"Hope cannot be sustained unless it can be seen." – Chris Hedges

Millions of people worldwide share leaked info about the plans of wealthy families who own central banks that print money from nothing. They put governments in debt and under their control. Their tax-exempt foundations, corporations, think tanks and secret societies control most activism, media, arts, education, and religion to control us. They write books. They have websites and agendas. Millions know. More should.

People in power aren't stupid. They fight, but, make more money working together, so they want a dictatorial UN world government by 2012 to manage countries like tax farms. Fake green billionaires tell us to use less so they can steal the rest. Their security forces trained in "terror" are aimed at everyone. They moved manufacturing overseas to destroy our future. Their politicians and media lied. So, what happened?

Big Banksters replaced "God" with "science" and created eugenics to control, weaken and kill us off. Most people know corporations poison us, education is under-funded, healthcare is dangerous and so on. Rich charities keep the big scams going with fake opposition. That's why problems get worse even after billions are spent on them. Can we use what inspires us for more than just entertainment to help all of us handle this?

Their psychologists plan changes over time using sex, violence, selfishness, racism, divide and conquer, order out of chaos, problem + reaction = solution, fear and more. Predictive programming puts ideas in books, music, movies, TV, etc. Social networks turn us into anti-social robots. We get too much trivia too fast to think about it. We can all see pieces of the puzzle. Can we reverse-engineer solutions to our problems?

We're supposed to learn to "love our servitude" (Huxley), so popular New Age ideas like "Spread the love!" and "Keep it positive!" are used to teach us to reject or censor any facts we don't like. Retro-youth culture turns adults into fragile children who seek approval and make-up their reality. Politeness sees us accept it. Blind optimism gets destroyed. Can we stay positive – and informed – and love our ability to handle truth?

Experts on these issues say the most important thing is to inform everyone where we live to push for better policies to protect our health and wealth from globalization. We're supposed to mindlessly protest or riot to help train our police to run population control exercises. But that's stupid. Isn't finding our own voice for freedom and calmly and consistently sharing good info to stop the predicted recession-riots a better idea?

We have proven options and doing nothing isn't practical when we're losing our rights and told to expect hard times, with no guarantees. Some can handle it, some can't, but if the GTA can find just 1% who can, or 55,000 people, out of 5.5. million, that's a start. Canadian men age 25 - 45 should try to handle heavy stuff on behalf of women, children and the elderly. Is feeling helpless sexy? Fighting back? Should we decide?

Of course, we have many things to love. But are they worth protecting? Can we fight for our future? Have fun and get stuff done? Expose the fraud of multi-generational debt? Share a million dollars worth of truth against billions in propaganda? Count on Canadians to share good info with other Canadians who will look at it? That may be all it takes to put us in the position to win. Once that's normal, we'll figure out the rest.

NaturalNews.com . WhatYouWantToBelieveIn.com . PressForTruth.ca